Only Two More Teachers Needed For County Schools

Only two more teachers are needed to complete the staff of the County of Vulcan Schools for the coming term—a principal at Mossleigh and a Grades 7-8 teacher at Lomond. This is an improved position over previous years.

Erwin Miklos, former principal at Mossleigh, will take over that position at Vulcan, succeeding Floyd Henchler.

The new salary schedule for County of Vulcan teachers is now before a conciliation board, the teachers and the County having failed to reach an agreement. The new salary schedule recommended by the conciliation board will have to be accepted and ratified by the teachers and the County, probably after the new school term gets underway.

Baseball Elks Win 3, Lose 2 In Past Week

Following their 8 to 5 defeat at the hands of the Champion club in the Carmangay tournaments, the Elks journeyed to Lomond, where they downed the Lomond crew by a 9 to 5 count before losing the second half of the double-header.

Next league action saw Elks one up with their heavy artillery geared for action as they blasted the Claresholm club by a 21 to 2 count.

In exhibition play here Sunday, the Elks continued their winning ways as they played the Carmangay Junior All-Stars and won by an 11 to 1 score.

In the Carmangay tournament, Vulcan's ace right-hander, Chuck Tanner was charged with the defeat, although he pitched steady ball and only three runs scored were earned.

Mike Jantzie was the winning pitcher in the first game at Lomond as he allowed only one run until the ninth inning when the Lomond crew scored three before being retired.

Wednesday's game in Claresholm saw the local crew come up with their most powerful display of the season as every Vulcan player got at least one hit while Chuck Tanner was once again in form as he limited the Claresholm crew to just three hits and two runs in the ninth inning.

Marvin Hanson received his first starting assignment and pitched brilliantly as the Elks drubbed the Junior All-Stars at the local park Sunday. Hanson, who has played second base most of the season, allowed only one run during the first seven innings. Tanner pitched the last two innings and held the All-Star team scoreless.

Next baseball action at the local park will be Sunday, Aug. 3, when the Elks host Stavelo for a double-header.

MAJORVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Heather accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hostetler and family of Lomond were visitors to St. George's Island zoo in Calgary on Thursday. On the way home they picked up Mrs. Hulda Rhodes at her son's place at Strathmore who spent the remainder of the weekend with them.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Heather entertained at tea so Mrs. Rhodes could meet again some of her former neighbors. In the early thirties Mrs. Rhodes lived on the farm now owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Deltz. Now widowed and her family in homes of their own, Mrs. Rhodes makes her home in Alx. Although in her mid seventies, Mrs. Rhodes is quite active. Quite recently she underwent an operation for cataracts on her eyes and previous to that was blind for two years. It was a pleasure for those of her neighbors who knew her when she lived here to meet her again and know she still has her cheery outlook on life. And just in passing it might be mentioned that at least two young people of the district were ushered into this world with the assistance of Mrs. Rhodes.

Mrs. Zina Orstene and granddaughter, Connie Borschers, of Edmonton have been guests for the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Heather, also staying this week at the Heathers, is Barry Corbell of Cluny, whose parents are away on vacation.

Milo-Queenstown FWUA
The July meeting of the Milo-Queenstown FWUA was held at the Lake MacGregor Memorial Park. Eight members answered the roll call with a 'Favorite Recipe from the FWUA Cook Book.' Mrs. Gilbert Vooyas read the news flashes from head office and also read a bulletin on Horticulture. The advisability of serving the Lions supper or having a one night project and serve a chicken supper in the fall was discussed, but held over for a later date when more members would be on hand. It was voted to pay the expenses of the car that took the delegates and visitors to Vulcan in June to attend the conference. It was also decided to collect gifts for the mental institutions and these are to be turned in at the next meeting.

A picnic lunch was served by a few of the members. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Vic Bertrand in Milo, when it is expected that the young people who attended Farm Young Peoples week in June will be back from vacations and will give their reports. The next meeting will not be held until Sept. 25, as it was felt members would be in the midst of harvest at the regular date for meetings.

Seeing is believing. On an excessively hot summer day recently we saw one of Milo's best and most highly respected citizens entering the little tavern on the corner with his pants rolled up beyond his knees and paddling along in bare feet.

The crops around this district are excellent and moisture is ample. So far no hail but Lomond and Armada districts were hard hit. Lovers of beauty are thrilled with the early morning appearance of fields of flax. Each morning they are covered with beautiful pale blue flowers which drop off as the day progresses only to be renewed the following morning. The fields give the appearance of a calm and shimmering lake.

The village of Milo have completed their estimates and assessments and established the new mill rate. This year the village will operate on 35 mills, an increase of one mill over last year. This has been brought about by the increased cost of hospital services. Formerly the village assessed 3 mills for hospital purposes but the provincial requisition is now three mills and allowance must be made for capita charges above this.

Misses Kathleen Beechman and Susan Herman are attending OGIT camp at Waterton Lakes.

Donald Brinker suffered a painful accident when his finger became jammed in a truck hoist. Amputation was made at the first joint.

THE MONARCH'S CHOICE
Queen Elizabeth and King George VI had tears in their eyes and the King said, "We'd rather have Jesus too," when White Feather sang:

"I'd rather have Jesus than men's applause;
I'd rather be faithful to His dear cause;
I'd rather have Jesus than world-wide fame,
I'd rather be true to His Holy Name,
Than to be the king of a vast domain,
And be held in sin's dread sway;
I'd rather have Jesus than anything
The world affords today."

Medical research aims at a longer, happier life for you and your children

Thanks to untiring research, many dangerous diseases are under control today. A number of other "killers", however, are still unsolved problems.

In the over-all research effort being made to solve them, the medical schools of Canadian universities are playing an important part.

To help strengthen and develop their research programs, the Life Insurance Companies in Canada are providing research Fellowships to these universities, every year.

Fellowships are awarded to graduates who have been appointed to teaching or research staffs of Canadian medical schools. During the past nine years 107 Fellowships of this nature, amounting to half a million dollars have been granted.

daughter, Mrs. R. Beagle.On Tuesday of last week a terrific cloudburst, accompanied by high winds and hail, hit the Armada district around 4:30 in the afternoon. At the beginning of the storm visibility was cut to only several feet when the rain came down in sheets. Farmers in the district east of Armada received a hundred percent hail damage to their fields while other parts of the district ranged from ten percent and up. Fields were turned into rivers and lakes in the matter of minutes and water was reported still running the following day.
Deep gullies caused by the rushing water, also were reported in the fields. Total amount of moisture content of the storm ranged from one and a quarter inch to one and three quarters.
Armada was without power for several hours due to a power pole at Vauxhall being knocked down.Jack and Leonard Marks were High River business visitors on Saturday.Vacation Bible School classes will be held at the Armada School for the children of the district this coming week. Miss Virginia Cowley of Arrowwood will teach the small fry, assisted by several mothers. Mrs. H. Craine and Miss Hazel Beagle will also conduct classes.Best wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to Mrs. Max Hanna who is a patient at the local hospital. Mrs. F. Oakes of Arrowwood is caring for the Hanna household and children during her daughter's absence.Intentional destruction, is just a day's work to the Dare Devils,
and the daring, astounding, roaring,
and the soaring destruction contest of automobiles will be one of the feature attractions of the Canadian Auto Dare Devils, to be seen here on Saturday, Aug. 9, at the Ball Park in Vulcan.The famed Canadian Stuntmen specialize in crash rollovers, ice wall crash, dive bomber, head on collisions, and T-bone crashes, destroying automobiles is just a day's work to them.Spectators will declare that the object is to "Suicide Yourself" along with the car, but with a sense of know-how developed with long and, sometimes, bitter experience, these stuntmen usually remain unscathed while ramming each other head on or participating in crash roll contests. In the T-bone crash the odds are a little higher for injuries. When one drives a car up a ramp and sails through the air to deliberately crash into another car some 15 to 20 feet away, one should start with the expectation of cuts, bruises, broken bones, or even serious injury. However regardless of the consequences and the danger, the thrills involved in this "Destruction Derby" seem to compensate the Dare Devils for the chances taken.In addition to this "Mechanized Mayhem" local fans will witness exhibitions of precision driving, motorcycle acrobatics, a flaming "Slide for Life" and the thrill of a life time in the much applauded Nerve-Racking Ramp-to-Ramp thriller terrific from all angles!The appearance here of the death defying Canadians is presented by Lions Club and the troupe uses 1958 Chevrolet, Delray, automobile. The show gets underway at 8:45 on Saturday, Aug. 9, at the Ball Park under the brilliant track lights supplied by the huge generator carried by the Canadian owned and produced Spectacle.

WINTER WHEAT

J. E. Andrews — Cerealist

Winter wheat has been grown successfully in southern Alberta for many years. Although the price per bushel of winter wheat is often slightly lower than that for spring wheat, this is usually offset by its higher yields and other advantages. Since it is seeded in the fall and harvested earlier than spring wheat, it allows for better distribution of farm labor. Where good stands are obtained, winter wheat gives protection against wind and water erosion and will compete successfully with wild oats, which are a problem in some areas. There are many hazards to winter wheat production but these can be greatly reduced by strict attention to variety of grain and proper cultural practices. Failure to follow proper cultural practices is usually much more disastrous with winter wheat than with spring wheat because it may result in complete loss of the crop.

Two varieties of winter wheat, Kharkov 22 MC and Yogo, are recommended for production in Alberta. Kharkov 22 MC is the most widely grown variety at present. It is the most winterhardy of the two and has stronger straw. On the other hand Yogo has given slightly higher yields when there was no winter killing and is more resistant to shattering and to bunt. Both varieties are bearded and have acceptable winter wheat quality.

Date of seeding is very important for winter wheat. On the average the best time to seed is during the first two weeks of September. Winter wheat seeded in early August is much more subject to winter killing and may be killed completely while early September seedlings survive with no damage. Winter wheat seeded in early August is also much more subject to severe streak mosaic and root rot infection, which may cause complete crop loss. On the other hand, winter wheat seeded after Sept. 15, often does not make sufficient fall growth for wind erosion control, and for maximum yield. It will also be later in maturity and may be severely infested with annual weeds in the spring.

For best winter survival and highest yield it is very important that winter wheat be seeded shallow into a firm seed bed. Further details on seed bed preparation, seeding methods and fertilizer requirements, may be obtained by writing to the Experimental Farm.

TILLAGE MACHINERY AND TRASH CONVERSION

Tillage machines vary greatly in their capacity to maintain surface trash cover. Studies conducted at the Experimental Farm, Lethbridge, have shown that wide-blade cultivators are about 90 per cent efficient in trash conservation, while heavy duty cultivators are about 75 per cent and disk-type implements about 50 per cent efficient. The rod weeder has been found to be excellent from the standpoint of trash conservation when used as a secondary tillage tool in combination with either the subsurface cultivator or disk-type implement.

The wide-blade cultivator has conserved better than 70 per cent of the original surface material after three or four summer-fallowing operations. Trash was buried in the kerf marks when the machine was used under fairly moist soil conditions. Tillage operations that were conducted in loose, dry soils resulted in a lifting of some material that had been buried by previous cultivation.

The heavy duty cultivator has conserved about 50 per cent of the original stubble after two operations on fallow. This machine has been found to be quite severe in its trash-burying action when operated on short stubble, and in moist soil or under other conditions that result in excessive soil turbulence and ridging.

The one-way disk has conserved about 50 per cent of the trash cover after each operation on fallow. Three tillage strokes have maintained only 12 to 14 per cent of the original cover on the surface. Best results have been achieved when this machine was operated at moderate speeds and as shallow as is consistent with good weed control.

The rod weeder, when used as a secondary tillage tool, has lifted buried material to the surface. This lifting action was noted to be a result of the initial use of the rod weeder. One stroke with the one-way disk, followed by two operations with the rod weeder, has maintained nearly 50 per cent of the cover on the surface.

The wise choice and use of tillage implements, alone or in combination, to provide the desired degree of weed control, soil tilth, and trash conservation constitute an important aspect of trash cover farming. The preservation of a stubble cover on the surface of the fallow and the seedbed is an essential practice if Western Canada's crop lands are to be protected from the ever-present threat of soil erosion.

THE SMALL BOAT

Canada's drownings are disgracefully high in number, especially when it is realized that most cases could be prevented by use of common sense. Every small boat or canoe should be equipped with extra oars or paddle, a bailing can (any large empty can will do), and a life preserver for each member of the party. No small craft should be overcrowded. If the boat overturns, it will probably float and unless the passengers can swim well, they should cling to the boat and call for help. Distances over water are easily misjudged and only very good swimmers should attempt to swim to shore to get help. If each person wears a life preserver, there will be less danger of drowning but the life preserver should be a type approved for safety.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to all our kind friends and neighbors for their expressions of sympathy and understanding in our recent bereavement, also for the beautiful floral tributes and to those who helped us in any way during our dear father's illness. A special thank you to Dr. Szekely, the nurses and staff of the Carmangay hospital.
